Round 1 - THE KICKSTARTER

- Teams can consist of minimum 2 to a maximum of 4 members .
- No development may start before the actual date and time of the event. Any teams that violate this rule will be automatically disqualified. However we encourage you to brainstorm ideas .**
- Any software/Hardware development tools and programming language can be used for the event. Any equipment or supporting material required for the prototype or it's development shall NOT be provided by the organisers. (Wi-fi and Tech-infrastructure consisting of space, charging sockets and internet shall be provided)
- To ensure a level field for all, prototypes must be created only during the hackathon and at the venue.
- Teams must stop working once the time is up.
- Teams are not allowed to leave the venue unless they want to forfeit the event or in case of emergencies as deemed by the organisers.
- Any damage to the institutional/Campus property will be viewed seriously and fines will be levied accordingly.

Rules and regulations

Round 2- The Ultimate Finals

- Top '10' chosen finalists will present their hack to the expert jury.
- The jury will judge the finalists on the following criteria

Concept : How pragmatic & innovative the concept is?

User experience : How user-friendly the hack is built?

Completion : Does the hack work ? Did the team achieve everything as per the problem statement?

Relevance : Is the solution built based on current and accurate facts and feasible to deploy ?

- Every Finalist shall be given 6 mins to present their hack and Q&A will be presided by the jury post the presentation.

Please note with respect to the entire event the verdict of the organisers is final**
